Jubilee Year of Celebration

In August the governor of Missouri and the mayor of St. Louis issued proclamations opening the sesquicentennial celebration of the arrival of the Sisters of St. Joseph in the "New World". Participating in this event was Sister Frances Virginia Cholet, provincial superior of the St. Louis province. Sister stated, "We celebrate people, places, missions, and events and we have great hope for the next 150 years."

The Sisters of St. Joseph, founders and sponsors of Avila College, trace their origin to a community founded in Le Puy, France in the middle of the 17th century. The first six sisters came from France to America in 1836 and became pioneers in education when they opened the first school, a one room log cabin, in the village of Carondelet in the St. Louis area. Carondelet Hall on Avila's campus and Carondelet Drive used in approaching St. Joseph Hospital are named for the Sisters of St. Joseph from this foundation in the village of Carondelet.

Carondelet was destined to become the cradle of the American Congregation. At present there are over 3,000 Sisters of St. Joseph of Carondelet serving in the United States, Peru, and Japan. There are approximately 15,000 Sisters of St. Joseph in the world, and many of these trace their roots to the St. Louis site where the first six sisters settled in 1836.

In 1866 the Sisters of St. Joseph came to Kansas City to establish a school for young women. This school, the oldest in Kansas City, eventually became St. Teresa's Academy and Avila College. In 1874 the sisters began St. Joseph Hospital, the first private hospital west of the Mississippi River.

Throughout this year of celebration the sisters serving in Kansas City will join with many Kansas Citizens who have helped to make their lives fruitful as together they have continued the mission of Jesus. The sisters serving on Avila's campus invite you, "our people," to join us as we celebrate our heritage and God's fidelity. There will be events of celebration held on campus throughout this school year.

The year of jubilee will culminate with a celebration to be held in St. Louis in June. Twenty six congregations of Sisters of St. Joseph serving in the United States will join six congregations serving in Canada to celebrate together their heritage:

- ...enriched by the past
- ...challenged by the present
- ...empowered for the future

Hold onto Your Seats!

The performing arts department of Avila College is pleased to announce its 12th delightful season. "1985-1986 is alive with anticipation in preparation for the upcoming productions," according to W. Buck Baker, producing director of the department of performing arts. "The actors, designers, directors and technicians are going all out to make this season the best ever at Goppert Theatre."

The season opens on September 27 featuring Daughters, by Carol Wright Krause. This award winning play features three vignettes, each concerning mother-daughter relationships. The play will also be performed on September 28 and October 4 and 5.

On November 15, 16, 22, and 23 the Goppert Theatre will present George Bernard Shaw's Arms and the Man which is a double-edged satire on the follies of war, social classes, and the romantic view of life.

Career Quandry? There is Help!

We are all faced with difficult decisions throughout our lives. One of the first decisions we make as adults is what to pursue as a career. This is a particularly difficult choice because, in our society, a career reflects who we are. How do you want the world to see you?

This is an appropriate question for anyone beginning their career or seeking to initiate a career change.

The first step in the career decision-making process is defining yourself. What are your interests, skills and values? The answers to these questions change over your lifetime. Therefore, in order to make a good career decision, an individual must define what is presently important, keeping in mind there will be future changes in their interests, skills and values.

Values, like skills and interests, can be uncovered through self-assessment exercises. A good place to begin evaluating your values is to rank order your personal values and work values. Examples of personal values are freedom, love, family and religion. Work values can be defined by things like security of job, amount of leisure time and income level.

Interests, according to John Holland, can be categorized into six basic areas, and each one of us usually has two or three areas of high interests. A popular method for defining one's interests is to fill out an interest inventory (available in the Human Resources Center). For the more motivated individual, answering some simple questions can begin the process of uncovering interests. A couple of questions you may want to ask yourself are: a) What did you want to be when you were 5, 10, 15...years old, and is there some theme running through these aspirations;

I Never Sang For My Father, by Robert Anderson, will be performed February 21, 22, 28 and March 1. This moving and perceptive work probes into the disquieting alienation which can exist between father and son.

For the final production Avila presents H.M.S. Pinafore by Gilbert and Sullivan. The production, a robust, Brechtian interpretation of Gilbert and Sullivan's parody of the British Navy, will be presented April 11, 12, 18, and 19.

All four productions cost $24.00 at the window, but adult season pass holders receive the entire season for $18. Senior citizens and students receive an additional discount and pay only $16. For a season brochure, call the Goppert box office at 942-8408.

b) What types of tasks do you enjoy doing?

Skills, like values, take some work to uncover. One of the best exercises is to list three accomplishments in three areas - school, work and leisure activities. These don't need to be big achievements; getting an A on a term paper will do. Write out the accomplishment and list the skills you used to achieve your accomplishment.

These suggestions are just the initial steps in the career decision-making process, but none are more important. Most of us do not rationally think through a career decision as thoroughly as we would think through the decision to buy a home or car. This needs to change, especially in today's competitive job market.

Call for Staffers

The fall of 1985 will be a landmark semester for the Avila Examiner. Publication of the paper which comes out every two weeks will now be done in a formal partnership with the Communications Department and students in an expanded journalism curriculum. Writers, photographers, cartoonists and editors are needed to fill staff vacancies. You need not be enrolled in journalism to be a contributing staffer for the newspaper. We will work with interested students who feel they have skills in the above areas. For additional information please contact Gary Morgan, Director of Student Development (Marian Centre) or Ray Cumiskey, Coordinator of Communications (O'Reilly hall).

Special Seminars

"Lights...Camera...Action!"

Better Video: A Guide For Beginners will be offered at Avila College on Saturday, September 21 from 9:30 a.m. to 3:30 p.m. The workshop will be instructed by Rick Raglow, Video Specialist at St. Luke's Hospital.

Bring your video camera and equipment for a fun and informative workshop designed to demystify the language and operation of video production. Topics include lighting, framing, composition, movement... what the sales person didn't tell you; and hands on mini productions...the fun part!

For more information, contact the Continuing Education Department at 942-8400, Ext. 280.

Unlock Your Imagination

Do you have a story trapped inside you? Ensnared by your inability to write well? If so, you need to unlock the door to your imagination? Avila College has the key. Techniques of Fiction Writing, a creative writing course, will let you explore the many facets of fiction.

The course will be taught by Donna Hart, a professional writer and gifted teacher who has a keen eye for "what makes a story work."

Topics will include: Priming the Creative Pump; How to Tell a Story; The Drama in Everyday Life; Technique of Writing Fiction; Writing the Creative Article; How to Sell Your Product; and Critique of Works in Progress.

Techniques of Fiction Writing will be offered on Saturdays from September 21 - October 26 from 10 a.m. to noon. For more information, contact the office of Continuing Education at 942-8400, Ext. 280.

It's an Age Old Epidemic

What is? Aging is, of course. And Avila College will offer the course Aging in Other Societies, Friday, September 20; 1:00 p.m. to 5:00 p.m. and Saturday, September 21; 9:00 a.m. to 5:00 p.m., in O'Reilly Hall on the Avila College campus.

Instructed by Paul Luken, Ph.D., this course entails a systematic examination of the variations in aging experienced throughout the world. Some topics which are examined include: The Status of the Aged, The Aged and Family Life in Various Cultures, and The Aged and Work in Different Societies. Missouri nursing home licensing credit and Kansas social work credit are available for this offering.

For more information, contact the Continuing Education Department at 942-8400, Ext. 280.

Class Rings

The Balfour Ring man will be in the bookstore September 30 from 2-8 p.m. and Oct 1 from 11-4. A $10 discount will be given on these 2 days. Rings can be ordered at any time during the year but no discount.

The Three Faces of Daughters

Avila College is proud to present the Kansas City premiere of the award-winning play Daughters.

The show is divided into three acts, each an individual play: Normal Daughter, Problem Daughter, and Prodigal Daughter. Each Vignette concerns itself with mother-daughter relationships.

The author, Carol Krause is the winner of the prestigious Norman Lear Award for achievement in comedy play-writing for Daughters.

Daughters will be presented September 27 and 28 and October 4 and 5. Shows begin at 8:00 p.m. in the Goppert Theatre on the Avila College Campus. For ticket information, contact the Goppert Theatre box office at 942-8408.

AMA Meeting

The American Marketing Association (AMA) will have an organizational meeting with refreshments on September 19 at 8:30 p.m. in the Barefoot Room, located in upper Marian Centre. The purpose of the meeting will be to introduce this year's officers, explain the committee positions which are still open, and discuss the activities planned for this coming year.

All interested students are invited to attend. The American Marketing Association provides an excellent way for marketing students to learn more about the field of marketing while meeting others with similar interests.

Young Scholars Program

Application Forms

Now on Campus

For Summer Research in the Humanities

Guidelines and application forms for the Younger Scholars Program of the National Endowment for the Humanities are now available for photocopying in the Placement Office. The Program will award up to 100 grants nationally to college and high school students to conduct their own research and writing projects in such fields as history, philosophy, and the study of literature. Applicants must be 21 years of age or under throughout the calendar year in which the application is submitted; or, if they are over 21, they must be full-time college students pursuing an undergraduate degree at the time of application. Individuals who will have received or expect to receive a bachelor's degree by October 1, 1986, are not eligible to apply. The application deadline is November 1, 1985.

Recipients of these awards will receive a stipend of $1,800 and be expected to work full time for nine weeks during the summer of 1986, researching and writing a humanities paper under the close supervision of a humanities scholar. Please note that this is not a financial aid program and that no academic credit should be sought for these projects.

If guidelines are not available at the Placement Office, please write to:

Corporate Excellence Kansas City Style

On September 18, 1985, at 7:30 p.m., Whitfield conference center became a stage for three of the most successful corporations in America. Hallmark Cards, Marian Laboratories and J.C. Nichols Co. were all represented by top executives. The Hallmark corporation was represented by William Johnson, the director of special projects. Michie Slaughter, vice president of personnel, spoke for Marian Laboratories. Representing J.C. Nichols Company was Assistant Vice President Lee Fowler.

The evening's theme was corporate excellence. Each presenter told the audience why each of their respective companies was considered a top corporation in America. The floor then was open to questions from the audience. Following the presentation there was a wine and cheese reception for all in attendance.

The evening's forum had been in the planning stages for three months, and the entire program was put to gether by students. The organization of Politics and Public Administration is planning to have a follow up program in November dealing with an aspect of health care.

The organization of Politics and Public Administration is made up primarily of Public Administration and Political Sciences majors. However, the club is open to all majors and is always looking for new ideas. Anyone interested in joining the organization of Politics and Public Administration (O.P.P.A.) please contact Stuart Linderman, president, or Dr. Steven Mosher, Advisor.

Chaplain's Corner

by Fr. Mike Zahorchak, Chaplain

Well, it's almost a month into the school year and each of us has decided whether or not we are happy here at Avila College. If we've decided that we are happy and will be happier - it's because our basic needs have been met. And if we've decided that we are not happy, then other needs lack fulfillment.

What are these needs? How can Avila fulfill them?

No doubt the curriculum of the College first drew us here to Avila. This is one basic human need that has been met - the intellectual need, the desire for knowledge.

There is another fundamental concern, one that the resident student is much more aware of than the commuter - the physical need for nourishment and shelter. These too can be adequately met here at Avila.

But it's more than this that attracted you to Avila. There are other fine colleges and universities in the area, and elsewhere, which have comparable curricula and which also have facilities similar to those here. So, it was something else that drew you here, something that was so attractive that you are willing to pay the extra money.

This is an 'extra something' that holds the promise of fulfilling your other basic human needs. This includes the emotional and psychological needs - the need to be acknowledged as an individual, the need to be accepted for who and what you are, 'right now, at this point of your life'. These needs can better be met by the personal touch that only a small college can offer.

This same smallness also presents opportunities to make friends easily. Thus our needs to grow personally and socially are adequately met here at Avila.

That leaves only one basic need that must be met - the spiritual need, the need for a relationship with God in a formal religious setting.

But before this need can be met, two things must happen: First, you must recognize and accept that you NEED God. So often we either find substitutes for God and religion (e.g., money, things, pleasures, good times) or put God and Church on the back burner.

The other thing which must take place is that you must realize that religion is NOT a private individual thing, whereby we think, "I will worship God in my own way without belonging to a church."

Religion is a SOCIAL thing. God made us to be 'family', to live and work together in peace and harmony. Formal religion sets an example by giving us weekly opportunities to pray together. When we pray the "Our Father" we publicly acknowledge, together, that we are brothers and sisters.

Here's where Avila plays a very crucial role. It has a campus ministry, with a full-time chaplain and a Sister spiritual director, to address this spiritual need. It does this by offering various opportunities whereby everyone on campus can examine his or her relationship to God.

So the secret of Avila College is this: it offers opportunities for its students to fulfill ALL their needs - intellectual, physical, emotional and psychological, and spiritual.

Send in the Clowns

Clowns, for years, have been the symbol of laughter, joy and love. A clown has the ability to make other persons forget their troubles and smile!

We all possess these general characteristics of a clown but without the make-up and costume. There are many people, such as the elderly, children, patients in hospitals and handicapped, who need the love and concern a clown can give them.

If you want to reach out to others and lend a hand now's the chance! Campus Ministry is sponsoring a training session on Saturday, September 28 from 10:00 a.m. to 2:30 p.m. in the Dance Studio (lower level Carondelet Hall) for anyone interested in learning more about clown ministry. Sister JoAnn O'Connell, who is actively involved in clown ministry both in the Kansas City area and in her missionary work, will explain the detailed techniques, including clowning, make-up and costuming.

In the morning the focus will be on the learning aspects and later in the afternoon there will be an actual exposure to clown ministry. Participants will be going to Timber Lake Nursing Home (transportation provided) to entertain the residents.

Participants should bring old, mix-matched clothes that cover the entire body, a hat or something for the head, any type of gloves, and a lunch to eat before going to the nursing home. Also, there will be a $2.00 fee to cover the costs of the clown make-up.

For further information call Karen at 942-6084 or Francesca at 942-3419, Campus Ministry coordinators of the clown ministry.

Avalanchers capture victory

The Avila Avalanche Soccer Team scored its first victory of the season and salvaged a tie last weekend on the road to start off the 1985 campaign.

Saturday, against Fontbonne College of St. Louis, the Avalanche team dropped behind 2-0 before storming back in the second half on two goals from forward Mike Corrigan. Midfielder Benny Gregory got the game winner in the last minute of the game.

Sunday's game against highly rated Sangamon State University resulted in a 3-3 tie.

Avila led 2-0 early on goals from Mike Corrigan and Bob Hoog, but Sangamon State scored right before halftime to cut the lead in half.

Sangamon State Scored the only goal of the second half to take the game into overtime. They also scored the first goal of overtime, but Mike Corrigan scored his fourth goal in two games, giving Avila the tie.

Sophomore, Rob Tuchyner, recorded both victories in goal for Avila, now 1-0-1.

Avila's home opener featured a tough Kansas Newman team that absorbed 27 shoots and was able to hang onto a tie with some fine goal tending from Tim Clough. Rob Tuchyner recorded his first shutout of the year, making five saves.

Avila's leading scorer, Mike Corrigan, went out of the game at the 60 minute mark and is doubtful going into two tough District #16 matches. Next game: Thursday, September 29 - Mo. Rolla, Home - 3:00 p.m.

Fourth Season for Women's Soccer

The Intramural program sponsors Women's Soccer on a club sport level for its fourth year this season. Head coach Donna Malone is excited about the level of interest and commitment of the team. Approximately twenty women are signed up, with practices every Monday and Wednesday at 6 pm.

About half the team is composed of returning members or new students who have had high school soccer experience. The balance of the team is taking their first shot at this high paced sport. "Skilled players will be teamed up one on one with novices for skill building exercises," says Coach Malone. "We want people to have safe, good fun and gain experience."

The object of a club sport at Avila is to allow people of all skill levels to join together in a recreational and social experience. Each year the team builds in enthusiasm and reputation. This year's schedule (listed below) is confined to a five week period to allow women to participate with a minimum length of time involved in the season. The three major women's soccer powers in this area are Avila's opponents: Rockhurst, Benedictine and KU. Both a home and away match is scheduled with each team.

Women's Soccer Schedule

Women's Volleyball Ready to Win

After opening the 1985 season with a loss to Pittsburg State and a victory over Tarkio here at Avila, second year coach, Brian Tubbesing, has his team on track for three away matches. Experience should help with returning players Liz Zuchowski, Brigid McVey, Julie Gronski, Jane Barton and Jenny Porter. Eight new players, mostly freshmen, complete the thirteen member roster.

Homesharing

Homesharing is a program where home-seekers, usually college students or people in transition, are brought together with homeowners who want to share expenses and remain independent. Most of the homes are with older adults who may have some medical problems and may also be in need of some services. They may be looking for someone who can do the grocery shopping, mow the lawn, do laundry, help with meal preparation, do the dishes or just provide some companionship. In exchange, the younger homesharer will receive low cost housing.

Thought should be given by both persons about the loss of some privacy and of making a commitment to each other. However, the companionship and the development of a good relationship can be well worthwhile. Sharing a meal or your time can mean a great deal to someone who otherwise would be alone.

Through careful screening and matching by trained staff, a successful arrangement can be made. Staff members gather information, check references, and suggest possible matches. Since this is a completely voluntary decision, details of the arrangement are left to the individuals.

Homesharing is a part of the Division of Continuing Education at Penn Valley Community College. If you are interested in learning more about Homesharing please write us at 3201 S.W. Trafficway, CC302, Kansas City, MO 64111, or call us at 932-7679.
